Educator Preparation Program

How to navigate LVIS for your license application.

Updated January 28, 2022

1. No matter what your immediate plans are, all EPP completers should get your Indiana Teacher License upon graduation

- Because you have been prepared for the standards as they now exist for an Indiana REPA 3 license – if you wait, there may be different standards required by the state.
- Because the tests will never be easier than when the information is fresh in your mind.
- Because most other states require that you obtain your license in the state in which you completed your preparation program in order to get a license in that state.

When can I apply for my license?

- You may not apply for your Indiana Teachers license until the date your degree was awarded OR the date you completed the Hanover College Educator Program – whichever comes LAST!
- Students need to have passed their CORE exams before applying for a license in LVIS.
- If you will be teaching on an emergency permit, the school that is hiring you will do that through the DOE

Step by Step Guide for Applying for your Indiana Teacher License

Do not do apply UNTIL THE DATE OF YOUR GRADUATION as there is a glitch that makes the licensing date incorrect.
My example may look slightly different because as a Licensing Advisor, I additional content on LVIS.*

The first step is to click on the CREATE PROFILE button. Thereafter, you will simply use the LOGIN button.

Adding other Content Areas to your Indiana license...

Indiana allows the adding of multiple content areas to an original license by passing the CORE content exam. If you have passed that CORE and want to add that area to your existing license, choose ADD CONTENT to license. The steps are the same except the DOE will authorize the addition instead of the HC staff, so you don't have to notify us to approve those types of applications.

This is great for Social Studies. Your original license is in Secondary History, and you can add Geography, Economics, Psychology, Sociology, Government, etc. to your. Elementary Generalists can add content like Middle School English or High School Mathematics.

Getting licensed in another state...

It is best to seek help from our HC EPP faculty and staff while you are still on campus. We can look up the information and help you understand what another state requires. You will want to consult that state's Department of Education regarding "OUT OF STATE TEACHER PREPARATION". Hanover's licensing advisors are happy to help and give advice but do remember that you have completed a program designed for Indiana licensing requirements. Other states can require additional licensing exams and possibly even additional coursework. Some require licensing in the state (Indiana) where teacher preparation was completed prior to applying for their state's licensing. Kentucky is one of those. Keep in mind that every state is different.

Still confused? You can request a Facetime or Zoom meeting with me to help you through the process! Just ask!
